

PINT specialization guide

A guideline explaining the design of PINT and how it can be maintained and specialized is available here:

<https://docs.peppol.eu/poac/docs/pintdocs/>

This guide is not intended for supporting implementation of the resulting specification. For that purpose parties should use the relevant BIS specialization. To avoid misunderstanding by the implementors of a specialization on how they must and may implement it, this guide should not be included with the published specialization.